'If you can't make a wave, make a ripple.'

– Robert F. Kennedy

Once in a while, someone comes up with a revolutionary idea – something that turns a spare bedroom business into a billion dollar enterprise almost overnight.

But in most cases, successful businesses take years to build. They win by sticking steadfastly to a long-term plan, gaining strength every year.

Whether success is achieved in six months or six decades, these companies share a common characteristic: as well as having the Big Idea, they get the small stuff right.

They deliver what the customer wants every time. Thousands of transactions. Millions of transactions. And each time making a small difference to the collective satisfaction of the customer.

It's called the ripple effect . . .

Connexus is in the business of making ripples – and helping clients to get the small stuff right.

Who we are

Connexus was founded in 1989 by Marty Smith. It's a private company owned by a small group of communications specialists.

What we do

We provide ideas, advice and business applications that help our clients interact with consumers or with other businesses.

Having started as a pioneer of telephone interactivity (premium rate services, Interactive Voice Response, contesting), Connexus now provides clients with the means to capitalise on all modern communications platforms – web-based, mobile or landline.

We've successfully managed several hundred interactive mass response projects, including high profile events such as television's NZ Idol, Dancing With The Stars and Fight For Life.

We've run voting services and contests services for print and broadcast media companies, providing a 'one-stop shop' service that enables people to take part using the internet, text messaging or traditional telephones.

Key services

■ Bond with new customers

When your business acquires a new customer, it's essential to quickly create a bond. Our 'welcome' service ensures all your new customers are contacted early in your relationship to check they're happy with your products or services.

■ Stimulate repeat business

Our 'reminder' service is a cost effective way to prompt your customers to use your products or services again. Timely reminders increase the repeat purchase cycle and encourage the loyalty of your customers.

■ Control stock

Our 'stock' service is ideal for businesses that need to monitor stock levels at remote sites and don't have computer networks available. You only need a telephone and our service helps ensure you have the right amount of stock at the right place at the right time. This is particularly useful if your stock is perishable.

■ Interactive marketing campaigns

We provide the means for clients to run interactive marketing campaigns using any combination of landline, mobile, web or interactive voice technologies.

■ Special deals

Our 'special deals' service enables you to contact customers in the most effective and efficient way to offer them incentives to buy more of your products and services.
